NFCUS Confers Tomorrow Opening Address by James

Accommodations Needed For Laval Students

Dr. F. Cyril James will give the opening address at the N.F.C.U.S. conference being held tomorrow in the Union. Guests will include Dr. Leon Lortie of University of Montreal, and Rev. E. Clifford Knowles, University Chaplain, Macdonald, Bishop's and Laval Universities will also be represented.

Accommodations are still needed for the 35 Laval students arriving at 6 p.m. tonight to take part in the National Student Week celebrations opening at McGill on Saturday.

Beds are needed for the 35 men students, as 5 women students have already been accommodated by the Alpha Gamma Delta Fraternity. Anyone wishing to co-operate in accommodating these Laval students are asked to contact George McClintock at BE 0752.

National Student Week celebrations will open tomorrow with the McGill N.F.C.U.S. Conference in the afternoon at 2 p.m., and the Athletics Night II at the gym in the evening.

Medical Test To be Given This Year

Princeton, N.J., (Special) — The Medical College Admission Test required of applicants by a number of leading medical colleges throughout the country, will be given twice again during the current calendar year, according to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test for the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Candidates may take the MCAT on Saturday, May 13, 1950, or on Monday, November 6, 1950, at administrations to be held at more than 300 local centers in all parts of the country. The Association of American Medical Colleges, through its Committee on Student Personnel Practices, recommends that candidates for admission to classes starting in the fall of 1951 take the May test. The results will then be available to institutions in the early fall when many medical colleges begin the selection of their next freshman class.

The MCAT consists of tests of general scholastic ability, a test on understanding of modern society, and an achievement test in science. According to ETS, no special preparation other than a review of science subjects is necessary. All questions are of the objective type.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information, which gives details of registration and administration, as well as sample questions, are available from pre-medical advisers or directly from Educational and the recommendations and resolutions will serve to guide the local N.F.C.U.S. Committee in its future policy.

A group of McGill students will meet the Laval guests at Windsor Station at 6:00 P. M. Members of the Scarlet Key will be present along with campus leaders. On Saturday with the aid of the Scarlet Key the guests will tour the McGill campus.

At 2:30, three Commission groups will be formed to discuss and form opinions on three topics. The first commission group will be led by Dr. Leon Lortie, and will have George McClintock and Norm Buchanan as Chairman. It will discuss "Student Exchange and International Relationships," and will deal with the availability of Student Exchange between—1) McGill and other Canadian Universities; 2) Canadian and U.S. Universities, and 3) Canadian and Foreign Universities, other than those in the U.S. The question of affiliation with the I.U.S. will also be discussed in this commission group.

The second commission group will deal with "Federal Aid to Higher Education." It will be led by Rev. E. C. Knowles and Colin McCallum, and will discuss possibilities of local scholarships, bursaries and loan funds.

Commission Three will be led and chaired by George Stephen and will deal with student summer activities and reduction of travel rates by land, sea, and air. It will also discuss summer employment, summer schools and seminars.

At the conclusion of the commission discussions at 3:30 p.m. Dr. Lortie will present some information regarding the Quebec Seminar to be held at Fort Lennox this coming August.

Following Dr. Lortie's address, the Plenary Session will start at which the three commission groups will present their findings and make resolutions.

"The main purpose of the conference, then, is to show to McGill students, the national and local scope of the National Federation of Canadian University Students activity," Harbour said. "Any resolutions or recommendations which will come out of the conference will serve to guide future NFCUS policy at McGill."

The Laval students will be arriving at 6 p.m. Friday. They will be entertained at the Union until the hockey match between McGill and University of Montreal, and at the dance which will follow the match. On Saturday, they will tour the campus, attend the conference in the afternoon, and then attend the Athletics Night on Saturday night.

All the men's fraternities have been contacted in an attempt to allocate billets for the visiting students. Eight girls from Laval are being taken care of by the Alpha Gamma Delta Women's Fraternity. If any one wishes to co-operate in providing accommodation for the visitors, Testing Service, Box 592, Princeton, N.J. Completed applications must reach the ETS office by April 29 and October 23, respectively, for the May 13 and November 6 administrations.

Bruneau Appointed New Dean of Law

Principal James announced yesterday the appointment of A. Sydney Bruneau K.C. to the position of Dean of the McGill Law School for the remainder of this session. He will fill the vacancy left by Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux who has been appointed to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Professor Bruneau has been on the McGill teaching staff since 1929 when he was a part-time lecturer in commercial law. In 1935 he was named professor of commercial law a post which he has held to the present date. Besides his work at McGill, Professor Bruneau has con-

Papineau Cup Debate Prize To be Contested Next Week

The Papineau Cup debating award will be contested in preliminary and final tryouts to be held next Friday and Saturday, Jan. 26 and 27 in the Union Ball Room at 4 p.m. There will be different topics on both days.

The cup is presented in memory of Talbot Mercer Papineau, graduate of McGill in Arts and Law, Rhodes Scholar, and member of the debating Club, who gave his life in the first World War. The cup has been competed for annually during the past 33 years and remains permanently in the possession of the Debating Society.

It was announced that the topic for the debate on Friday will only be disclosed in next Friday's issue of the Daily. The topic for the Saturday finals is: Resolved that liberty of Canadians would be threatened by a welfare state.

The welfare state is defined as "any state which through national government agencies undertakes to provide for the basic well-being of all its citizens by the provision of such social benefits as: health, pen-

M.O.C. Council Meet To Alter Constitution

The M.O.C. executive will meet with the M.O.C. General Council tonight at 8:30 in the Westmount Y.M.C.A. to discuss and ratify a newly amended constitution for the M.O.C. A specially created advisory board has recommended several changes in the old constitution.

It was announced by Peter Candy, president of the M.O.C., that the tentative re-draft will suggest that the separate post of Membership Chairman be created to assist the treasurer. It is also recommended that the post of Vice-President be established, and filled at the discretion of the acting president.

The relation of the McGill Riding Club to the M.O.C. is to be discussed in detail. It has been suggested that the Riding Club be a self-regulated, free elective unit, and that its president be a member of the M.O.C. executive. The necessity of M.O.C. membership for the Riding Clubbers is also to be voted upon.

The business meeting is scheduled to be followed by a swimming party in the Y.M.C.A. pool.

HUSAIN

"The New Dominion of Pakistan" is to be the subject of a lecture at 12 noon today in Moyle Hall.

Open to both students and public, the lecture will be given by Dr. Imdad Husain, educational and cultural attaché at the Pakistan Embassy in Washington, D.C.

German Undergrads Form Union

Hamburg, Germany, — (Special) — A German students' association (V.D.S.), corresponding to the National Union of Students in other countries, was founded as a result of a recent conference in Marburg, Germany.

Voluntary membership in this association is open to all student councils representing the undergraduates of any university in all the zones of Germany. A committee of four students has been elected to represent this association, which has its secretariat at Bonn. The foreign relations of the German universities are in the hands of a special committee, the secretary of which is a member of the representative committee.

The main task of the association is to promote the exchange of views and experiences on current problems. It will also bring the wishes and suggestions of the students to the attention of the occupation authorities.

Gaels and Redmen to Clash Novel Gag in Athletics Night Hoop Tilt Arts Building Is Held Today

By AL HALPERIN

Many opinions have been voiced as to the possibility of Mentor Moe Abramowitz bringing an intercollegiate basketball championship to Montreal and McGill University. Tomorrow night, as the feature event of Athletics Night II, the Olympic coach will pit his team against the Gallop' Gaels from Kingston, in what may prove to be the initial step on the long road to a victorious season.

Tomorrow night's set-to will be the league curtain-raiser, and a large crowd is expected to be on hand to see what the Senior Redmen can do in the Big Four College hoop.

The record chalked up by the Red and White Quintet, has been far from impressive, posting a win-loss record of 4-6. Abramowitz' men have, however, shown brief flashes of basketball prowess in several of their pre-season tilts. The most recent being their 53-52 win over the second place Windsor in Wednesday eve's MBL fixture.

In their only other Montreal Basketball League win, which was also played against the powerful Windsor, the Abramowitz coached outfit came out on the heavy end of a 50-46 count.

In their other two victories of the season, the McGill Seniors triumphed over the Currie College quintet of Boston and the Tilsonberg Trojans All Stars.

The team does not boast any "Super Stars" but they have a wealth of up and coming rookies, an done of the best coaches in Canada to round them into shape. Mentor Moe has been giving forth with his vast store of basketball knowledge for the past three months, and the squad has shown miraculous improvement with each succeeding contest.

Coach Abramowitz has sent his proteges into ten games, to date, but these have only served as warm-up tilts for the main attraction — the Senior Intercollegiate Basketball League. The only question which remains to be answered however, is whether the McGill boys have had enough experience to smoothe off the rough edges and come up with a winning basketball team.

The whole aggregation is in tip-top shape physically, and should prove quite tough to Frank Tindal's Tricolor outfit. Lanky Bud Fraser has rounded into a first rate centre, and is just about the most improved member on the squad, his greatest gains being made in the shooting department.

Smiley Wilson is continuing to show dazzling form and his hook shots are beginning to connect. Sheldon (The Kid) Merling is still running hot and cold, but with a few more weeks of experience, he should add a lot of scoring punch to the McGill lineup.

Ashlie Garbus, a product of the YMHA farm system, has been playing a hard diving brand of ball in the past few encounters, and seems to be getting used to Senior company.

HOCKEY DANCE

John MacKay, Chairman of the Red and White Society and Hugh Hamilton, Dance Director of the Society announced jointly today that arrangements have been completed for the dance that will take place after the hockey game between University of Montreal and McGill tonight.

The Grill-room of the Union will be open during the dance and the Westerners' orchestra will provide the music from 10:30 p.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Arrangements have been made to have busses ready to bring students from the Forum to the Union right after the game and tickets for the busses will be sold between periods of the hockey game at 10c each. The admission to the dance is 75c per person.

Toy Pistol Fools Cop Actor Taken to Jail

Now that the play "Ten Little Indians" is over, at least one member of the cast is relieved. He is Stan Tavis, a member of the cast, who had a slight tussle with the law.

It seems that Tavis was showing a toy pistol, one of the props of the play, to an inquisitive girl at R.V.C. An observant passer-by saw the pistol, which is an exact replica of pp. 38, and immediately summoned a policeman.

Tavis was brought to the 4th Police Precinct despite protests that he was innocent of any wrongdoing. It was only after he recited lines of the play, that the officer-in-charge believed his story that he was in the McGill play and let him free.

R. E. Powell Is Made University Governor

Ray Edwin Powell, president of the Aluminum Company of Canada Limited, has been elected a member of the Board of Governors of McGill University and "Trustee, the Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning (McGill University)." It was announced yesterday following a meeting of the board.

The new board member is a 62-year-old native of Tablegrove, Ill., son of Joseph D. Powell and Sarah E. Anderson Powell. He received his early education at Monmouth College, Ill., and later attended the University of Illinois.

Mr. Powell entered the aluminum industry in 1909 and for many years worked in various plants in the United States, Europe and South America. He joined Aluminium Ltd., the parent company of Aluminium Company of Canada and other companies, in 1928 and shortly afterward came to Montreal. Later he was appointed a vice-president of the Aluminum Company of Canada and was elected president of this latter company in March, 1937.

The new governor is also president of Saguenay Power Co. Ltd., and a director of other Aluminium Limited companies. In particular, with Aluminium Limited, he is the director who has the special responsibility for the wide-spread operations of the Aluminium Limited group of companies.

During the First World War Mr. Powell served in the United States Army, and held the rank of captain when he was demobilized.

He is married and has four children, Robert Ray, Mary Cecile, Cynthia and John Andrew.

Mr. Powell was honored by Laval University last June when the honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon him. Mr. Powell was also honored in 1947 by Denmark when that country presented him with the "King Christian X Liberty Medal" for services rendered to Greenland during the Second World War.

An active golfer, he is a member of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, Laval-sur-le-Lac Golf Club and the Mount Bruno Golf and Country Club. He is also a member of the St. James Club, and the Montreal Racquet Club.

Two McGill students who firmly believe in co-educational high schools will state their opinions on the subject tomorrow afternoon on Station CFCE.

This discussion takes place on "Home and School on the Air," a broadcast of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations which is heard each Saturday at 1:10 p.m.

Claire Corbell, third year Arts, and Don Allen, second year Science, will speak in favour of co-education. The others on the programme will be Lois Ainslie and Jerriek Segal.

The script was written by Don Allen. The producer is Wm. M. Petty, Radio Director of the Home and School Association, who will also be heard on the broadcast as moderator of the discussion.

NO HOTBEDS, PLEASE

The question of affiliation with the Communist-dominated International Union of Students is on the agenda of tomorrow's interesting conference sponsored by the local committee of the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

This is not the only important item on the agenda, by any means, but when this item comes up at the listening posts will be fully manned and once again The Listeners will try unsuccessfully to discover what the average McGill student thinks about Communism.

The safest course to follow would be to simply oppose affiliation because such action might suggest to the world at large that McGill students are opposed to Communism. However, there will likely be some students present who will want to discuss all sides of the question. We ask The Listeners to keep calm if any such students are present. They are not necessarily Communists.

The Communists will be out in full force, of course, and naturally will favor affiliation with I.U.S. This brigade is very small at McGill — which rather spoils any story about Communism on the campus when actual numbers are quoted. Canadian students have missed the boat insofar as affiliation with I.U.S. is concerned.

There was a time when the student organizations of the Western countries could have made an effective effort to keep a world-wide organization of students on a co-operative but non-political basis. But while the Western student unions fumbled and bumbled — with Canadian students being the most confused of all — I.U.S. became a well-organized group bent on political action along lines which could never be satisfactory to non-Communists.

There appears to be little to be gained, therefore, from affiliation with I. U. S. This is a solidly constituted group obviously aiming at furthering the influence of Communism, and anyone who carefully reads the propaganda put out in great volume by I. U. S. can have no doubts about this fact.

We in no way agree with the people, some of whom are in high places, who put out the nonsense that if you touch the pitch on a tree you're forever stuck with the tree. If Canadian university students cannot attend a conference consisting mainly of Communists and come away without joining the party, then it is time to examine our educational system.

But since we missed the boat in the confusion — and there is some evidence that Canadian university students as a whole are appallingly naive in matters political — the best course at the moment is to oppose affiliation.

Letters to The Editor

IN FAVOR OF AFFILIATION

Editor, The Daily:

I was shocked to see Mr. Len Harbour's statement in Wednesday's lead article on Saturday's NFCUS Conference. After the disgust which filled the campus last term when certain elements in the Arts and Science Society accused a recognized campus political club of trying to "pack" a meeting, in order to ensure to get a large turnout on Saturday afternoon.

As a student who has always been in favour of NFCUS affiliation to the International Union of Students, I deeply resent Mr. Harbour's remarks and consider them false and hypocritical.

False, because he implied that "a good representation of the student body" would back him up in his opposition to IUS. If feeling at the University of Toronto can be taken as any indication, Canadian students back affiliation to IUS (albeit for varying reasons) overwhelmingly.

The CUP dispatch appearing on the same page mentioned that the NFCUS executive there voted 8-4 against affiliation. What the dispatch failed to mention was that most of the students present in the audience at the Toronto NFCUS meeting spoke in favour of affiliation. The dispatch also left out the fact that the Victoria College assembly at Varsity voted overwhelmingly for NFCUS affiliation to IUS.

Hypocritical, because it was Mr. Len Harbour himself who, knowing full well my opinions on IUS told me to attend the Saturday conference.

Lionel Albert.

The I.U.S. Issue

FUMBLES IN CANADIAN POLICY

Foreword

This is the seventh part of a series of articles to be run by The Daily to acquaint readers with the history and organization of the International Union of Students and its relations with the National Federation of Canadian University Students. The questions of whether or not NFCUS should join IUS (which should not be confused with International Student Service) has been a controversial issue on Canadian campuses for several years. The whole question may become a major issue again when Canadian students are asked for their views on sending a Canadian delegation to the World Student Congress to be held in Europe this summer. This series on IUS was written by Jack Gray, news editor of The Toronto Varsity.

Following the February events in Czechoslovakia, and the withdrawal of The United States National Students Association from the International Union of Students, Grant Livingstone, head of the Canadian delegation which was to seek affiliation with the IUS wrote to all Canadian universities to sound out opinion on the IUS.

Maritimes, Alberta Opposed

In Canada the Maritimes went almost solidly against joining IUS, and Alberta indicated that they would oppose the move if the United States group confirmed their suspension. The proposal was advanced that NFCUS go to the IUS and ask for a motion of censure on the manner in which the IUS had handled the Czech situation. If that motion was not forthcoming, they would then try to form an alternative "international union."

The proposal, as outlined by Livingstone in a letter to the Canadian unions on May 19, 1948, was:

"(1) We ask all other national unions to join us at the Prague (it was held in Paris) meeting of the IUS Council in a common motion of censure of the executive for their failure to condemn the suppression of students in Czechoslovakia, and in motions of reform along the lines of our conditions, and in a joint declaration that failure to accept this will result in mass withdrawals of all the participating countries and the formation of an alternative union.

"(2) That we immediately ask the Dutch or the Danes to accommodate such an alternative if our attempt fails."

Two thirds of the Canadian universities approved of this move, and it became policy.

It also caused a lot of trouble. It was evident that the Canadian group did not want to join IUS merely to participate in an international student organization, but also to change the political orientation of that international student group. That purpose in itself was neither wrong, nor impossible. It was (and is) necessary that the political orientation of the IUS be changed, or at the very least, modified. But to attempt to do it with a threat of walking out and forming an alternative union was not a very effective way to deal with the problem.

It smacks too much of the "if you won't give me any of your candy I'll go and make some of my own, and to hell with you" attitude. Dealing with a large group, the majority of whom don't agree with your basic political way of life and who do not particularly like the manner in which you run your affairs, it was necessary that some vision enter Canadian student thinking at this point. It didn't, and NFCUS, through her representatives, went blindly ahead, slashing out with words and action, so that by the time they got to the IUS Council meeting they were viewed with suspicion and alarm by the members of the IUS.

On June 16 Livingstone wrote to the IUS, outlining the Canadian position, and presenting the NFCUS application for affiliation. On June 17 he sent a letter to 34 national student unions outside the Iron Curtain, stating the NFCUS position, and inviting sympathetic unions to a meeting in Brussels immediately preceding the IUS meeting in Paris. In it he asked other unions to support the Canadian proposals to reform the IUS from within at the Paris Council meeting, and if that was not possible to sever their relations with the IUS and form an alternative union.

NFCUS Not Accepted
The Brussels meeting was not to be a great success. The Canadian Delegation were not really aware of what was going on. And by slapping the IUS hard in the face with the threat of breaking up the international group, Livingstone laid the grounds for the refusal of the IUS to accept NFCUS affiliation until the Canadian students had another talk about it.

By the time NFCUS had a chance to discuss it at their conference in Montreal in December, 1948, the whole Canadian picture had changed. In the main, Canadian students were completely confused about the issue. Politics and Canadian fumbles had done their work, and NFCUS rejected the IUS.

Music Soothes Savage Breast
So Wopple Goes Western

by Ed Reid

Why have Professor Watson Wopple's lectures been cancelled? The Features Department asked me to investigate.

"Watson is in bed right now," said Mrs. Wopple when I telephoned. "He strained his back shovelling snow from the front walk and is resting quietly. But I am sure he would like to see one of his students. Why don't you drop around?"

The next afternoon I knocked on the door of the Wopple residence.

"Do come in," said Mrs. Wopple warmly. "Don't mind the noise; it's merely one of the children howling again. Watson says if he keeps it up he will be a professor someday!" She laughed sweetly.

"Well, a student!" exclaimed Professor Wopple. "Glad to see you. By the way, haven't I met you somewhere before?"

"You may have, sir," I replied. "I am taking one of your courses."

"Ah yes, I remember now. Ah—Smith, isn't it?"

"No sir, Reid."

"Of course, of course. It just slipped my mind for a moment."

I explained that the Daily wanted to know whether anything serious was preventing him from lecturing.

"It's my back," he explained. "But my students will be glad to know that I will be all right soon. Meanwhile I am just taking it easy, having fun with a few books and listening to the radio."

"Do you have any favourite programmes?" I inquired.

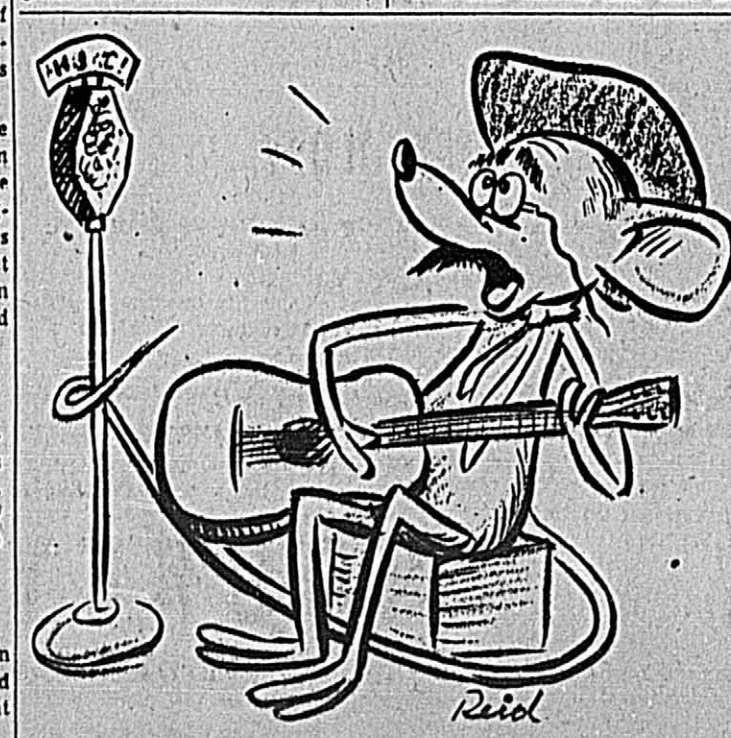

"Well, just about you and me—please don't quote this!—I rather enjoy the hillbilly and western music! Goodness knows, I wouldn't want anyone at the Faculty Club to know about it."

"It's all because of a friend of mine who was a professor in the Music Faculty. In his spare time he learned to play the guitar, and one day, just for a bit of jolly fun, entered an amateur contest. His rendition of My Love for My Horse is Purely Platonic won first prize! He was offered a position playing and singing with Pinto Pete and his Prairie Pals, for which the remuneration was considerably higher than what he received on the Faculty of Music. Unfortunately my friend always considered money one of the finer things of life, so he took the position."

"Then came a series of triumphs. He perfected his drawl and appeared on the C.B.C. as Sorrowful Sam and his Mountain Melodies. He made recordings as Alfalfa Alf."

Features Meeting

An important meeting of the Features Staff will be held in the Radio Workshop (beside the Daily office) today, Friday, at one p.m. Policy and organization for the year will be discussed, and all staff is requested to attend.

Scheme to Improve State of Country

"The only reason most people do not own an elephant is that they have never been sold on the installment plan," said Myron B. Rusk, an authority on this and allied subjects. Few since Hannibal have realized the utility of the elephant. Valuable as a beast of burden or as a means of transportation, elephants would be quickly purchased by all who could pay for them over a period of time. Eventually they may even displace the car in every garage (after minor alterations on the roof). Mr. Rusk went on to say that one could amass a fortune by promoting the sale of elephants, a useful commodity which would put a shot in the arm of our crumbling economy.

lok was a "great master, a magnificent pianist, and the symbol of freedom of thought in Hungary."

While in a Library at Budapest, he was asked to come and turn the pages for a pianist. When he heard that the pianist was Bartok, Professor Anhalt went quickly. That was how he met the composer, who lived in retirement, and was very seldom seen in public. Along with another pianist, Bartok was playing a Concerto for Two Pianos by Stravinsky, a composer whom he admired greatly.

The Concert tonight was organized by the Conservatorium of Music and the participants had constant moral and material support from Dr. Douglas Clarke, Dean of the Faculty.

Both professors at the Provincial Conservatory of Music, as well as Mr. Charbonneau and Mr. Nadeau, rehearsed with Professor Anhalt for a month preparing the Montreal premiere of the Bartok work.

Professor Anhalt said that Bartok's sonata, a dramatic composition, was written in Hungary in 1937. The first movement with its very close canons represents a constant fight between the two pianos, and the percussion instruments emphasize the climaxes and anti-climaxes of this conflict. The second movement is of an elegant nature and the conclusion comes only in the third movement where the two pianos join to support the main theme introduced by the xylophone.

Stravinsky's sonata, which was finished in 1944 in California after two years of work, is a composition of pastoral character. Written for two pianos, as are all the pieces in the program, its dominant characteristics are charm, balance and purity. The piano parts are, in pure two-part contrapuntal writing most of the time.

Professor Anhalt said that Bartok's sonata, a dramatic composition, was written in Hungary in 1937. The first movement with its very close canons represents a constant fight between the two pianos, and the percussion instruments emphasize the climaxes and anti-climaxes of this conflict. The second movement is of an elegant nature and the conclusion comes only in the third movement where the two pianos join to support the main theme introduced by the xylophone.

Stravinsky's sonata, which was finished in 1944 in California after two years of work, is a composition of pastoral character. Written for two pianos, as are all the pieces in the program, its dominant characteristics are charm, balance and purity. The piano parts are, in pure two-part contrapuntal writing most of the time.

Mr. Beaudet and Miss Landry, both professors at the Provincial Conservatory of Music, as well as Mr. Charbonneau and Mr. Nadeau, rehearsed with Professor Anhalt for a month preparing the Montreal premiere of the Bartok work.

Hockey Squad Meet Carabins Tonight

Campbellmen In Top Shape For U of M

By CY LEWIS

The man in the khaki wind-breaker was leaning against the boards, resting after a brisk workout. There was silver in his hair, but he could still show those younger fellows a thing or two about hockey. This was Dave Campbell, coach of the McGill Redmen's hockey squad. Dave has coached the greatest names of hockey in his time. Such puck luminaries as Dave Kerr and Paul Haynes of Winged Wheelers and later N.H.L. fame, Jack Gelineau and Gino Pearson of McGill and the N.H.L. have all been under his tutelage at some time or other, along with many others who have made hockey history.

Dave has seen them come and go both good and bad, and when asked about this year's squad he gave out with, "They're coming." Dave has been working hard with this squad which is a mixture of rookies and veterans. They dropped their first three games, but came back strongly last week to open the new year in fine style trouncing Queens 7-3, showing a great improvement over their pre-holiday exhibitions.

Tonight the Clan Campbell go out after their second victory of the year when they clash with the high flying University of Montreal Carabins. In a previous encounter, the Redmen dropped a 5-2 decision to Les Carabins in a game which saw them start out strongly and hold the Blue and Gold for nearly a period and a half before fading in the face of a terrific Montreal onslaught. Still it was a creditable showing considering that the Redmen had only a few practices and one game before that till.

The Redmen wound up a week of stiff practices when they were put through their paces by Coach Campbell yesterday noon. The mentor had them working on their shooting and as a result of their target practice Goaler Auger in the Carabin nets looks to be in for a

Braves Meet Bishop Crew In Puck Tilt

The Intermediate hockey squad makes its first start of the season in the newly-formed Ottawa-St. Lawrence Hockey Conference when it takes on Bishop's College at the Verdun Auditorium.

The contest also marks the debut of Cy Beigler as coach of the Braves. Cy played with the Senior Redmen for two seasons until seriously injured in a game against the Toronto Blues last Spring.

This is also the first year of the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference which also operates in football and basketball and which has entries from McGill, Dawson, Bishop's, Macdonald, Ottawa U., St. Pat's, Sir George Williams, and Loyola.

This year's edition of the Interests boasts several holdovers from last year's squad as well as many promising newcomers.

Starting in the nets will be Russ Rubenstein, who played senior hockey with Westmount High school last season. The defence consists of Lax and McMurtry forming one unit, while Heward and Gareau team up as another pair.

The first string attacking unit is made up of holdover Cave at center between the rookie Dorion on the left wing while Quain, who was up with the seniors earlier in the season patrols the right wing. The second line consists of holdover Bill Duke at center between McGuire at left and Bill Errington who was with the senior Redmen earlier, on right. The third attacking unit shows Ensinek at center with Fensom on the left wing and Kellie who played two games with the seniors on right.

Other men on the squad are golf champ Bob Hall, Bell Ledbell, footballer Vince Capogreco, Hutchinson and George Furse. Thus far Stanley has been improving steadily and Ab Limonchuk has shown well.

tough session on the Forum freeze tonight.

McGill's three lines for tonight's tussle will be Bob Marshall, Brian O'Neill and Rocky Robillard on the Red line. Andrews, Arn Taylor and Bob Russell will be skating on the White line while Murphy, Gene Robillard and Len Kent will form the Blue line. It is interesting to note that Coach Campbell uses the color system for denoting the composition of his forward lines.

Each line takes its name from the color of the sweaters worn during practice. Mentor Dave dislikes the common practice of calling lines first, second and third. It is his theory that all lines are of equal worth to the team and it is doing an injustice to the players to designate them as being of greater or less value to the team.

On the defence chunky Rube Zemel the Redmen's newest rear-guard sensation will line up along the blue line with Sandy Sanderson. The other rearward pair will be Dawson Tilley and Kev Reynolds. Tony Dobell will don the pads for tonight's fray. Tony is alternating with Bob MacLellan be-

McGill Aqua Performers Keen on Setting Records

McGill's Red Mermen will be entered in seven events of an open meet at the YVCA on Dorchester on Saturday night. The swimmers are entered for the purpose of setting new records. In several events. The pool is a 20 yard one, five yards short of the regulation pools for title meets. This gives a swimmer two extra pushoffs in a 100 yard, which makes for faster times.

Adin Merrow will chase his own record of 5.28.3 for the 440 yard backstroke. Irwin Kopin, the Red Seahorse will try to shatter the 440 yard breaststroke mark of 6.21. Two medley relay teams are entered, a 120 yard and 300 yard team. There will be a 100 yard freestyle and a 400 yard freestyle relay. Peter Mingie, showing the greatest form of his career, will swim to lower his Quebec 100 yard backstroke mark of 1.05 and possibly set down the Dominion mark of 1.02.4. The composition of the relays is of yet uncertain. Both of the medley marks are presently held by the McGill Squad of 1948-49.

Merrow, Kopin, and Mingie with the aid of two extra push-offs should set new records in their respective events. The 120 relay record will go, but the 300 yard record set by last year's crew probably will stand.

The meet will provide good competitive training for Coach Vic Curran's crew, which has undertaken a vicious schedule for 1950.

The female group of Red Mermen will enter Joan Mount in the 440 backstroke, Alfredo Redgell in the 40 yard freestyle, along with Audrey Wipper, plus a 120 yard Medley Relay trio.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of the Sports Staff at 1.00 p.m. today. All members, from club reporters up, must attend.

Redmen Play Ottawa Five In Basketball

The intermediate basketball squad resume their schedule after a two week layoff Saturday afternoon at 3.00 p.m. at the Sir Arthur Currie Gym when they meet an aggressive Ottawa U. quintet. If the Schacter coached crew wins this game, their standing in the league will be two wins and two losses.

They lost their first game to a well knit U. of M. five but came back to run roughshod over a fighting Dawson squad. Then they were soundly trounced by a Carleton College team, but this was because many of the players had mid-term exams and also there had not been any practices during the holidays.

When regular practices resumed the team began to round out into tip-top shape and in their last exhibition game against Palestre Nationale they defeated the Charrier quintet 55-43. This Palestre Nationale team is the same team that was entered in the Senior Golden Ball Tourney and the McGill victory enhances the team's chance for victory Saturday afternoon.

Manny Schacter will only be able to dress ten men and it is probable that Jack Kurtz, who is suffering from a bad ankle, and Fish Fisher will not play this game. Brian Pye, who is beginning to round out into fine shape, played for Carleton College last year and he is looked for to produce in this game against his former college.

If you dropped dead

The awkward angle of a sudden death is the subsequent ransacking of one's pocket by the coroner. Consider the case when a tramp was found dead in a ditch near the docks. Before the coroner's jury his pockets yielded one empty gin flask, one pair of dice, a "knuckleduster" and a copy of the Fortnightly Review. The moral is of course, that your pockets point your penchant for good or bad.

Do your pockets hold pure passports to pleasure? Each McGill student may now obtain seats for the annual undergraduate production which has so aptly been termed "The Social Event of the Season". Get them today from Central Ticket Office, McGill Union. If you drop dead tomorrow your parents may point with pardonable pride to the presence of the paste boards in your pockets.

McMaster University To Hold Fund Drive

A Canada-wide appeal for a $2,500,000 foundation fund for McMaster University will be held from Feb. 20 to March 4. It was announced by E. V. Ilsley, campaign manager.

It will be the first such national request for funds made by the Hamilton college, Mr. Ilsley said.

The board of governors said early response has been gratifying. Hamilton's objective was set at $350,000 with the remainder to be sought across the country.

Camoos Prizes On Portugal Is Announced

The Portuguese Department of National Information has announced that the Camoos Prize of 20,000 escudos is being offered for the best literary or scientific work on Portugal, Registrar T. H. Matthews said last night. This prize is offered every second year for any first edition works published between Jan. 1, 1948 and Dec. 31, 1949.

These works may be written in English, French, Portuguese, Spanish, German or Italian, and must be published outside of Portugal. Requests for entry in the contest should be accompanied by a probative document to the effect that the work was published within the time limit. Ten copies of the publication should be sent to the Department of National Information (Secreariado Nacional da Informacao) Lisbon, before Dec. 31, 1949.

The Camoos Prize will be awarded before the end of May, 1950. The jury is composed of the foremost Portuguese writers and of the Secretary of National Information, with the latter voting only in the event of an equality of votes. The jury will be strictly governed by the rules of the contest in letter and spirit. It will have the right to defer the prize if it considers none of the entries justify the attribution.

The Department will send an invitation to the winner to go to Lisbon where he will be presented with the award at a reception held on the occasion of the distribution of the literary prizes.

Heat Engines Subject Of Dawson Address

On Monday evening, Professor Mordell of the Engineering Department gave a talk on practical heat engines at Dawson.

Introduced by Dr. Marshall, Professor Mordell reviewed the important types of engines of the past, and mentioned the work being done in this line at the present time.

He also discussed the practical and theoretical limits of efficiency which can be achieved with these engines. The evening ended with a brief question period.

FILMS AT U. OF M.

The University of Montreal Film Society will present the noted Swedish film "Sunshine Follows Rain" in the Great Hall of the University at 8:15 tomorrow night.

Starring in this picture are the well-known Swedish stars Mai Zetterling and Alf Kjellin who portray the lovers in this drama of peasant life in the mountainous northland of Sweden.

The film has received many praises for its musical sequences and photography of outdoor sequences.

Accompanying the main feature will be a short on the life of the great painter Van Gogh.

Manitoba Band Banned by Winnipeg Musician's Union

Winnipeg, — (Special) — The Students Union of the University of Manitoba last week asked the Auditorium Commission to over-rule a ban placed on the Varsity Band by the Winnipeg Musicians' Union. The union banned the band from playing in the band.

The union notified the students body that it was refusing to allow clearance to the Varsity band to take part in "Canadian Capers," which the students planned to present on Jan. 20.

Leo Martin, union business agent, today said its decision was taken on the ground that the union could not deviate from its established policy of refusing clearances to non-union bands performing in commercial ventures.

Mr. Martin said that under an arrangement with the management of the auditorium all bands are cleared with the Musicians' Union.

E. G. Parker, auditorium manager, said earlier this week, the arrangement was felt desirable as the members of major musical groups using the auditorium and visiting artists as well as all belonged to the musicians' international organization.

Mr. Martin denied that the union has threatened to boycott the auditorium if the Varsity band is allowed to play there. He said the union would decide its course of action later if the Auditorium Commission reversed the union's ruling.

U.M.S.U. President Bill Appleby was quoted by the university newspaper, "The Manitoban," as saying the U.M.S.U. executive had unanimously rejected the stand taken by the musicians' union.

"The student executive endorses the principle of collective bargaining," he said, "and strongly upholds the right of the local musicians to organize. We do, however, violently oppose the coercive methods employed by the union in the present dispute."

Ari Mauro, vice-president of the U.M.S.U. council, said today if the present attitude of the union is carried on it will work a hardship on the students.

"The civic auditorium is a public hall," Mauro said, "and we feel no group or groups has the right to dictate what the policy of the hall should be."

He was confident the Auditorium Commission would permit the Varsity band to play in the building.

"The Manitoban," today quoted three members of the Auditorium Commission as favoring the principle of allowing the Varsity band to play at the dance. The three were Ald. V. B. Anderson, Joseph Stepnuk and A. H. Fisher.

DAILY PUBLICITY

A large number of publicity agents are still not following the instructions printed at the top of the "Coming Events" Column of The McGill Daily. It is particularly important that completed forms be left in The Daily mailbox by the Central Ticket Wicket just inside the front entrance of the Union.

All other advance publicity must be turned in to the news office in the basement of the Union BEFORE 1:30 p.m. the day before, it is to appear in The Daily. This material must be typed double space and the name and phone number of the publicity agent AND the club president must be placed at the bottom of the page.

Publicity agents can NOT be "promised" any special "play" in The Daily. They are asked to turn in their material and leave the staff free to proceed with the job of producing the day's issue.

Publicity deadline for Monday's paper is 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Coming Events forms must be turned in each day — do not turn in a group of forms for several future dates.
